Rail Labor Board Optimistic Over Strike Situation

(By Associated Press)

Chicago.—The United States labor board announced Monday that it had great reason to hope that the threatened railroad strike will be averted.

The four big brotherhoods and the switchmen's union have reiterated their warning to the United States railroad labor board that only a "satisfactory settlement" can prevent the railroad strike, called for next Sunday morning, it was learned Monday.

The formal announcement of the labor board was the public to read from loose talk and provocative language about either side of the controversy.

The announcement said: "There is great reason to hope that the railroad labor board has settled 700 disputes between the railroads and their employees in about a year and a half. Many of the disputes contained possibilities of strikes or lockouts.

"The board is anxious to get the present dispute out of the way in order that the restoration of sound business conditions may proceed.

"All good Americans should refrain from loose talk and provocative language about either side of the controversy. Neither of the parties should be alarmed or irritated by unwarranted denunciation or insinuation from irresponsible sources."

INCOME TAX CUT FAVORED BY VOTE IN UPPER HOUSE

ASSESSMENT ON SALARIES OF $5,000 OR LESS UP MONDAY.

LENROOT A CTIVE

Wisconsin Junior Senator Leads Fight for 50 Percent Amendment.

Washington.—The senate Monday afternoon, 46 to 25, an amendment to the tax revision bill, proposed to reduce the normal income tax to two percent on the first $5,000 of income.

Senator Lenroot, of Wisconsin, introduced the amendment, which would reduce the normal income tax to two percent on the first $5,000 of income.

Washington.—The senate, having voted to reduce the amount of tax to be paid after 1922 by individuals having net incomes ranging from $5,000 to $10,000, or more, had before it Monday the question of cutting down the taxes on those whose net incomes are $5,000 or less.

A reduction of 50 per cent for this class of taxpayers is sponsored by Senator Gerry, of Rhode Island, who has the approval and support of other democrats on the senate finance committee. The proposed bill would be in addition to the slight reduction in the normal income tax to two percent on the first $5,000 of income.

Senator Gerry not only would reduce the taxes, but also would have further reductions made in the taxes to be paid by all individuals. The proposed bill would fix the normal income rates at two percent on the first $5,000 of income, four percent on the second $5,000, and eight percent on all over $15,000.

The present normal rate is eight percent on all over $4,000 and four percent on the amount of income below $4,000. The committee has proposed that the rates be retained.

The Gerry amendment was taken up Saturday after the senate had adopted by a vote of 46 to 25 the compromise income surtax plan, with the maximum rate at 50 percent, but a vote on it was deferred at the request of Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, a republican leader.

Seeks Official Data.
He explained he wanted to obtain official data from the treasury as to the exact amount of revenue that would be lost through the proposed change and the amount that would be received from the Gerry plan to tax gasoline, retain some of the so-called luxury taxes and increase the tax on corporations.

Meantime leaders on both sides are seeking to marshal their full forces for the coming tax revision fight by summoning to Washington the more than a score of senators—a majority of them republicans—who have been absent during consideration of the revenue measure.

Fifty Per Cent Bill.
On Saturday the senate killed the amendment offered by Senator Hitchcock to raise the surtax to 55 percent and the amendment to lower it to 52 percent. After a long debate the senate adopted the 50 percent amendment, Senator Lenroot leading the fight.

Civil War Veteran Killed by Street Car

Daniel Terwilliger, 52 years old, a civil war veteran, died at Mercy hospital at about 9 p. m. Monday, from a fractured skull sustained about 8 o'clock, when he was struck by a street car at the corner of Garland avenue and Washington street.

Mr. Terwilliger was sitting on the curb at this corner when the car, operated by James King, approached. As the car came to the corner Mr. Terwilliger started across the street. The car struck him, and he was thrown under the wheels, being brushed out of the path of the car.

He was taken to Mercy hospital, where he died an hour later.

America's Unknown Soldier Is Chosen for Arlington Burial

Chalons Sur Marne.—America's "unknown soldier" who will find an honored resting place in the national cemetery at Arlington, was chosen here Monday. The ceremony of selecting the casket to be taken to America, took place in the little improvised chapel in the city hall, and in keeping with a request from the United States government was simple and brief.

Sergeant E. F. Younger of Chicago was handed a small bouquet of white and pink roses and advanced to the chapel, passing through a line of French troops. Four caskets had been placed in the chapel. He walked slowly around the caskets, then stopped and placed the roses on one. He then turned, facing the entrance, saluted and reported to the American officials that he had made his selection. During the ceremony a French military band played the dead march from "Saul."

Prominent French and American officers were present and several companies of French infantry rendered military honors.

Later the casket was placed in the rotunda of the city hall draped in an American flag, the only flowers on it being the little bouquet.

MIAMI, Fla.—Definite identification of the body of a man who committed suicide in a Miami hotel last Friday and who is believed by some to be Warren C. Spurgin, missing Chicago banker president, still was unobtainable Monday.

Warren C. Spurgin, Miami businessman, former Chicago broker and friend of Spurgin, declared Sunday night, he was sure that the man, previously identified as C. Hayden, of New York, was the missing president of the Michigan Avenue Trust company. He said, however, he had not seen Spurgin for five years.

J. H. Hiley, Carbondale, Ill., who said he had seen a man resembling Spurgin in Spurgin's bank, said Monday the dead man in no way resembled Spurgin.

Further strength to the belief that the man is not Spurgin was added through receipt Monday of a telegram from the Chicago authorities describing the missing bank president as a man weighing 200 pounds, 6 feet three inches in height and having black hair streaked with gray. The body here is that of a man five feet 10 inches in height weighing 160 pounds and having red hair streaked with gray.

FINISH 7.5 MILES OF CONCRETE ROAD

Tuesday Noon to Mark Completion of Highway to Edgerton.

By Tuesday noon the last batch of concrete for the Janesville-Edgerton road will have been run out of the pit and laid near the Indian Ford bridge and the highway between the two cities completed—marking one additional step in the county's great highway building program.

Once the equipment is cared for, the concrete road force under Highway Commissioner Charles E. Moore will be disbanded.

Starting in April, the county has laid 29,100 feet of the concrete road this year, practically 7.5 miles. The figures of the road will then be prepared for the county road committee to be submitted to the board of supervisors. The officials express confidence that new records have been established in reduction of costs for road building of the permanent type.

Before plans can be made for the 1922 concrete road building program, the supervisors will have to settle the troublesome question of which road is to be built next. The Janesville-Edgerton road, the Beloit-Cortop Evansville and the information is being obtained as to how much state aid will be available for the 1922 program and to which roads it can be applied.

Oust Ex-Emperor or Entente Will Act, Ultimatum

(By Associated Press)

BUDAPEST.—The army of former Emperor Charles, which was marching on Budapest for the restoration of the ex-monarch, was defeated with heavy loss by Hungarian government forces at Tata-Tovaros, 35 miles west of Budapest, Monday morning. The Karl forces have fallen back to Komorn, 15 miles northwest of Tata-Tovaros. The pursuit by the government troops is continuing.

BULLETIN
London.—An unverified report that former Emperor Charles has been assassinated has been received by the Exchange Telegraph company.

London.—It is reported in Vienna, that the British high commissioner there has declared the entente will construe the continued presence of former Emperor Charles in Hungary as a casus belli, says an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from the Austrian capital Monday.

The ex-ruler is reported to have declared that if the entente adhered to its policy of "suppressing the will of the Hungarian nation," then he, as the legitimate king, would sever relations with the entente.

The British government has notified the Hungarian government that the latter must take all possible steps for the expulsion of former Emperor Charles from Hungary, it was learned Monday. Instructions have been sent to the British ambassador in Paris to arrange a meeting of the council of ambassadors in the French capital Monday.

It is stated Great Britain reserves the right to support the "little entente"—Jugo-Slavia, Czechoslovakia and Rumania—in any action it may take for the expulsion of the ex-ruler from Hungarian territory.

War Clouds Gather Over "Little Entente"

Paris.—War clouds seem to be gathering over Hungary as a result of former Emperor Charles' return to that country and his attempt to establish himself as emperor of the throne. Jugo-Slavia and Czechoslovakia, member nations of the "little entente" are understood to be mobilizing forces to bring pressure to bear on Hungary to expel Charles, while there have been reports that Rumania, third member of this Balkan combination, is prepared to join her allies in a military demonstration.

Expel Karl, Edict of Allied Nations

Paris.—At the meeting of the council of ambassadors, the influence of the allied powers was definitely thrown against the attempted restoration of the ex-emperor.

The council instructed allied representatives in Budapest immediately to demand from the Hungarian government the proclamation of the forfeiture of all rights of ex-emperor Charles to the throne.

The placing of Charles on the throne would mean the restoration of Hungary under conditions which the allied powers will fix. Failing these things, the allied representatives are instructed that the allied powers will decline all responsibility and the consequences which might result for Hungary.

Hungarian Forces Recapture Town

BUDAPEST.—Hungarian government forces, fighting against the attempt of former Emperor Charles to regain the Hungarian throne, have won pronounced success against the Karl forces, it was announced in reports to the government early Monday. The reports stated that the town of Raab had been recaptured and the Karlists were being attacked from the rear.

The town of Raab, at the head of the west Hungarian insurgents, who had hurried to the government's aid.

DES MOINES STREET CAR SERVICE RESUMED

Des Moines.—The city council passed the proposed street car franchise on third reading at noon Monday, and service was resumed on all lines before 4 p. m. Motor buses, which have taken the place of street cars since Aug. 3, will not be disturbed Monday, but probably will be re-routed soon. The franchise now goes to the people for a vote at a special election to be held about Nov. 24.

"The Love Pendulum"

By MARION RUBINCAM

At some time or other we all have to stop and think of our own life. The thought of it often enough as the winter days went by, and as the eternal empty round of social frivolity little by little dragged down my vitality.

Win and I were nominally living together. Actually we had drifted so far apart as two people can—and still be together day in and day out in a five-room apartment.

It finally reached the stage where we went out very little together. I tried to accept Gwendolyn's invitations. I tried to have her and the people she fancied in my home—and sure it was at least as impossible.

Her attitude changed, I think in response to my own. Given was the sort, who must surround herself with a people. She rarely had less than a dozen in the room with her. She might dislike men intensely—as I think she did—but it would make no difference to her, because my companions were so many others. She had about her a great many people she did not like and a great many that merely bored her, but it never mattered because there were always so many others.

So she simply asked Win to found me finally an apartment. Her big affairs were different. I was asked to these and accepted and we were very charming to each other. The social life began to ignore each other again. Win was asked, and went, to her intimate teas and dinners.

The comments about this, when it began to get out and to be talked about, it were very odd—and interesting later, when I took a less personal view of the whole thing.

"I'm glad you've ceased to be such a little clinging vine," my father said. He was back from a run through the South and was already restlessly planning to go abroad. But he was staying in the city for a month and was often at my place afternoons.

"I met Winthrop at Gwen's," he went on. "Fascinating woman. I suppose that's why she's so popular. She's like her. Evidently you don't, since I've been there four times and haven't seen you. Did you drop her or did she drop you?"

"It was nothing," I answered coolly. "It was nothing in common."

"Nothing but Win," he remarked, then laughed lightly. "You seem to have him in common."

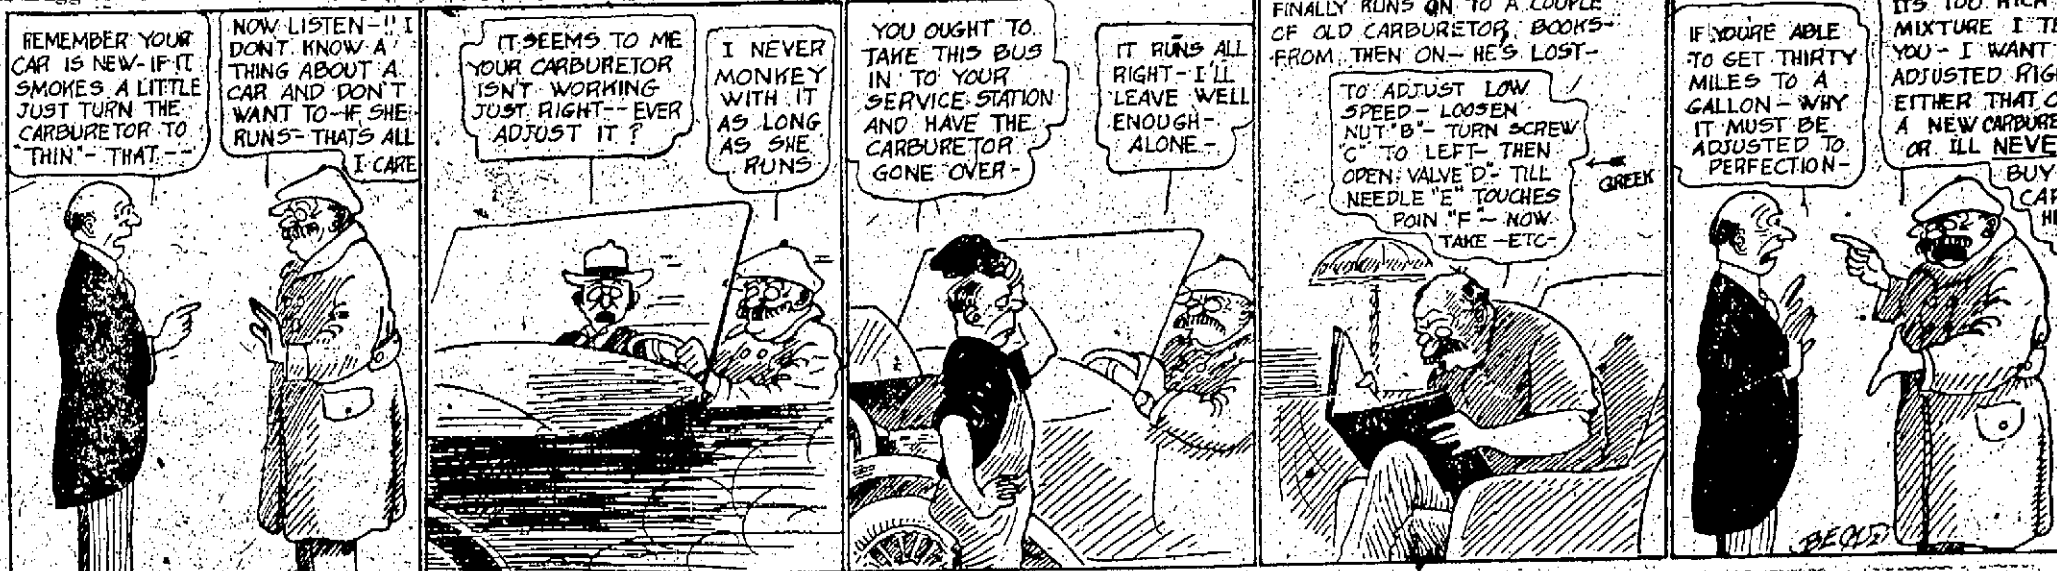

I said no. Later Aunt Harriet was with me, one stormy afternoon when I was staying indoors with a heavy cold.

"All the town talks of Win's devotion to the girl," she remarked. "I'm broad minded. I don't believe in a woman tying a man to her apron strings merely because she's married him. But I really know, Win is carrying this too far. It's not only

Today's Short Story

By GEORGE T. BYE

Illustrations by ARLENE COYLE

Marcelle

After studying Marcelle in her own little crowd and seeing her in larger public in shops, restaurants and theaters, I am of the opinion that she can be called the "1921 model American girl."

A marvelous beauty, who may not be a beauty to another, and labels her the "American type," I am more honest. I say Marcelle is not a beauty, but she is a girl who is a million other adorable American girls, she buys her, cat-frothing complexion in a drug store. Like them, she tortures her eyes with the same sense of "indigestion" throbs dully in their hearts; that they are being cheated of something. Another same blur of enamel bills their eyes. Marcelle was so faded that if she might tell him that although you teased him about showing emotion you admitted him for it. Then never mention the subject again. It is impossible to say what qualities make a good husband. One woman is made very happy by a sensitive husband, while another considers his sensitive womanish.

"Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young girl 15 years of age. I have been orphaned with a girl 14 years old. Of late she goes car riding without a chaperon with two young boys apparently 18 years old. Every time I mention anything to her and say I don't think she should do those things she only laughs at me.

How can I convince her that she is wrong? I am not your friend's guardian and have not therefore, a right to tell her what she should and should not do. After you have expressed your opinion, you have done all you can do. If you are careful of your own conduct you will be doing all that is necessary. I heartily agree with you that she is too young to go riding with boys.

Massachusetts professor, who is dejected, a torpedo-runabout to be shot at the moon, were to invite her for the first trip, she would answer with a masked yawn: "Thanks a lot, but I just saw you." "Gotta change my shoes. Go it down."

Though nothing thrills her any more, she has spasms of giggling to heart-free, go spontaneous like "one" "quitting" her 10-years old and watching a regiment of clowns pass by. But when she giggles that way there are no clowns passing by. Usually she is alone.

After her four years in university, Marcelle returned home with a collection of fraternity pins (it must be the jewels, who organize most of the college "fraternities") with several standard "lines of chatter," knotted with observations like "Go roll your ova" and "Say it with flowers" with the words and tunes of all the latest raveled songs from Tin Pan Alley. New York, had with nothing else.

When her mother was gayly and fondly showing her off on the front porch one evening, as was her wonting habit, a dyspeptic old man, who lived next door, raised his internal voice to this effect:

"My God! And it's things like that that are to be the mothers of America in 10 years."

But it looked for a while as if Marcelle was not to be one of the mothers of America. She had no lack of beauty. Some had serious intentions that became more and more serious to them when they found they could never have a girl like Marcelle, but never an eye-lash, a finger of interest when the conversation got at an unlikely.

One of these beaux was taking Marcelle for a ride in his father's $5,000 car. What caused the accident was never learned. He was speeding for one thing. The wreck of the car, which a telephone pole showed that. The boy paid the price of his inexperience with his life. Marcelle lived.

Dinner Stories

Little Timothy, who had been studying history but a short time, thought he would give his grandfather a treat on the subject, so he asked: "Say, grandfather, what great war broke out in 1854?"

The old man laid down his paper and looked thoughtfully at the boy for a moment, then a sudden light dawned upon him.

"Why," he said, "that was the year I married your grandmother."

The company record was being prepared. Swallow Tail Smith was obtaining the biography of Private Murphy.

"Are you married, Murphy?" he asked.

"Yes," replied the recruit with a sigh.

"Any children?"

"Yes, two sons, both boys," was Murphy's quick reply.

"You are very young to be a registered pharmacist," said the lady with a massive jaw. "I wish the proprietor to wait on me and not any young clerk."

"Where is your prescription?" inquired the proprietor, coming forward.

"I have no prescription. What I want is five two-cent postage stamps."

Dorson Blank, wishing to interest a society woman in the poor of his parish, took her to visit one of the tenements.

"Well," he asked her after she had glanced around, "what do you think of the life of these poor people? Awful, isn't it?"

The lady raised her lorgnette and, as usual regarding everything as a cross, replied: "Brutal! I had no idea—but isn't it rather overdone?"

In conversation with Marice, Myrtle confidentially announced the en-

agement of their mutual friend Melissa to the young minister was off.

"She told me, he was awfully nice in many ways," went on Myrtle, "but he was horribly jealous and took undue advantage of his position."

"How was that?"

"Well, every time she had an engagement to motor with some other man he would spray for rain."

of church were, heard commenting upon his address.

"This a fine sermon," his reverence would be after giving us," said Briggs.

"It is indeed," replied Maggie, "and I wish I knew as little about the matter as he does."

"How was that?"

"Well, every time she had an engagement to motor with some other man he would spray for rain."

Pumpkins can be dried and kept for winter use by the following method, in use by my grandmother for many years:

Pare the pumpkin and stew it slowly until it is dark-brown in color and the moisture is cooked out of it. Put it through a colander; then make it into little pats and place on a granite or stoneware dish in the hot sun. Or a slow oven may be used, if more convenient. When thoroughly dry, put it into tin boxes or cans to keep. To use, soak in warm water till soft and proceed as with freshly cooked pumpkin.

BEAUTY CHATS by Edna Kent Forbes

AN ELASTIC FIGURE

The woman who wants to appear young must keep her figure elastic. Plumpness, maturity, too much fat over the body destroys all beauty of line and for slender curves substitutes lumps and bulges.

And this is the figure that the lines of youth are always flowing lines, lines that seem to melt into each other, that give an impression of action. You will see the same principle in a drawing when you look at a "badly done" "wooden" figure that seems to live upon the canvas. In the "wooden" picture the lines are stiff, in the well done one they are all lines of action.

It is this same principle of the living figure that makes one woman look old and another one young. The young figure is always elastic. Exercise is the best way to achieve these lines of action and to keep the figure slender and supple. The best exercises are those which apply to the waist and back, since the mature figure is stiff here and the young figure elastic.

Standing with the hands above the head and stooping to touch the floor with the finger tips is a splendid exercise for keeping the figure young, particularly for keeping the back young. Standing with the hands on the hips and revolving the upper part of the body without moving the hips and using the waist as a pivot is a splendid exercise for keeping the waist line young.

Don't touch the floor with your fingers!

Marcelle—Very few girls wear corsets at 14 years of age and many do not wear them at any age. The girl who stands properly, and dresses in clothing that is not a burden to carry, does not need a corset, unless she is very stout. Corsets are being more and more simplified in lines, conforming to those of the body and so softened that the wearer is not aware of their presence. The thing to do, is to put off the day for wearing corsets as long as possible, keeping your body so supple and the lines so young.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 20 and am married. My husband is 23. Four months ago we moved to Ohio. We do not know any one and we are used to a lot of company. It is most terribly lonesome. We have gone to church, but have met no young people. There seems to be nothing in which we might meet some of the young people.

LONESOME.

They do not realize at church that you are so lonely. I would suggest that you talk to the minister and ask him to make you acquainted with the young people. Getting acquainted is a slow process and there is no adequate means except through churches and clubs. Be friendly to your neighbors and to the older people you meet. Your acquaintance will grow and you will have friends of your own age as well as older ones.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: My daughter has a girl friend who is unable to go to school on account of tuberculosis. This girl looks the picture of health she coughs considerably. She lives in a nearby city and often comes to spend the night with us and stays with my daughter. My daughter also goes to her house for the week end. Do you think there is any danger that my daughter will contract the disease?

If your daughter is strong there is probably little danger that she would contract the disease. On the other hand, she might be in a run-down condition and susceptible to it, though she herself does not realize it. She should certainly consult a physician before she runs the risk.

"Fuzzled." I am not an authority on legal matters, but believe however that your husband's children would come in for their share of the property, if there is a joint deed such as

Reversing Form, Blues Rout Jeffs in Great Game, 25-7

Copyright 1920 by Geo. McManus.

Local High, Outclassed in Opening, Turns Tables; Crapser in 65-Yard Run

Staging a spectacular uphill battle that stamps them as state championship calibre, Janesville high school's football squad forced Jefferson into disorderly retreat Saturday, 25 to 7. Though completely outclassed in every branch of the game in the first quarter, the Blues returned to the fray in the closing periods, fighting like a new aggregation.

The comeback was marvelous. From an almost purely defensive game—if the poor showing can be called defensive—they switched to a tearing offensive that ripped through Jefferson at will. It seemed almost that the teams had changed places in the last half, for as Janesville assumed the winner's role, Jefferson played like the Blues did in the opening moments.

The first half was terrible. It took shivers of fear into the hearts of 2000 Janesville fans. The Blues were entirely to pieces and played a game so ragged that it looked like a walk-away for Jefferson. They fumbled constantly and showed no fight.

Crapser's Great Dash

Searching for the cause of Janesville's poor exhibition, overconfidence seems the only solution. Added to it was disgust by the players for themselves, with a constant listless attitude. However, it is safe to predict that such a showing will not be made again this season. The team has learned a lesson—almost a costly one.

Three of Janesville's touchdowns came in rapid succession in the final quarter and one in the third.

One play will always be cut in Southern Wisconsin gridiron history. It was Janesville's fourth touchdown and stamps Crapser as the individual star of the day. Almost before the Jeffs realized that the Blues had made a third touchdown, Crapser cleared a Jefferson pass in the fourth quarter and dashed two-thirds of the length of the field to put the skin over. Fullback Young kept him all the way moving down every Jefferson player who tried to tackle the runner. It was a wonderful 65-yard run and sent the Blue rosters into wild howls of ecstasy.

How they Lead

It was Crapser who put Janesville into the lead. The Blues had scored a touchdown early in the third quarter, but Griddle failed to kick goal and the score stood 7 to 6 in Jefferson's favor. With the ball on Jefferson's 40-yard line in the opening moments of the fourth period, Knipp unrivaled a beautiful 30-yard pass to Crapser, who dashed over the line leaving a Jefferson player, who had been at his side, rooted to the spot in a daze.

Halfback Lane comes in for a big share of the glory. After a faint Knipp made a short pass to Lane, who raced 37 yards for the third touchdown, utilizing his famous pivot to the utmost advantage.

Crumpacker tackled for Jefferson, was badly cut over the left eye in the third quarter in scrimmage and forced out of the game. He was given first aid upon the field. Crapser had a slight advantage in weight over Jefferson, but it was not enough to make a difference. With Jefferson having the distinct edge, the first quarter ended with a ball in midfield and the score, 0-0.

Jefferson Scores.

The Jeffs, with the advantage of going downhill on a field much higher on one end in the second quarter, followed a costly fumble by Young. Dabareiner made a 40-yard end run after a line shift. Knipp tackled the runner and forced him back five yards. On a similar shift play, M. Blentz slipped around the left end and put the ball over, following it with a kick. Score: Jefferson, 7; Janesville, 0.

Jefferson kicked off to the 30-yard line and Young returned the ball for five yards. Griddle then bucked through for five yards. McCluskey executed a 10-yard run and Lane found a hole for 10 more. Sumner was hurt. The Blues were penalized 15 yards for crowding the field.

Crapser caught a beautiful pass but being tackled and the ball went to Jefferson on the Jeff's 40-yard line. Homer Casey showed great tackles. Jefferson punted, but Lane missed the ball and it was Jefferson's ball on the Blues 40-yard line. Jefferson kicked straight up and Casey caught the ball. McCluskey made 8 yards at end, then Crapser fumbled Knipp's tackle, but recovered. The Blues kicked to Jefferson's 40-yard line. Schultz causing the Jeff player to fumble and the Blues got the ball. Jefferson knocked down Blue player McCluskey made a 15-yard gain around end to the 20-yard line. Bucks, through tackle, placed the ball on Jefferson's 10-yard line when the whistle blew for the half.

Janesville Scores.

Janesville played uphill again. Casey returned the ball five yards to the 45-yard line on the kickoff. Stoldt, now in the game, laid the game down. The Blues were settling down and pulling off some great runs. Griddle and Lane starting, until the ball was on Jefferson's 10-yard line. A pass to McCluskey gained 4 yards. Crapser took through tackle three times for yard gains. Bucks put the ball within a foot of the goal. Then a line buck shoved Knipp through tackle for the touchdown. Griddle missed goal. Score: Jefferson, 7; Janesville, 6.

Janesville rushed the ball down the field in the fourth quarter, with Stoldt and Knipp making the game on end runs. With the ball on the 40-yard line, Knipp made a beautiful pass to Crapser, who went over. Again Griddle missed goal. Score: Janesville, 12; Jefferson, 7.

Young Real Play Came.

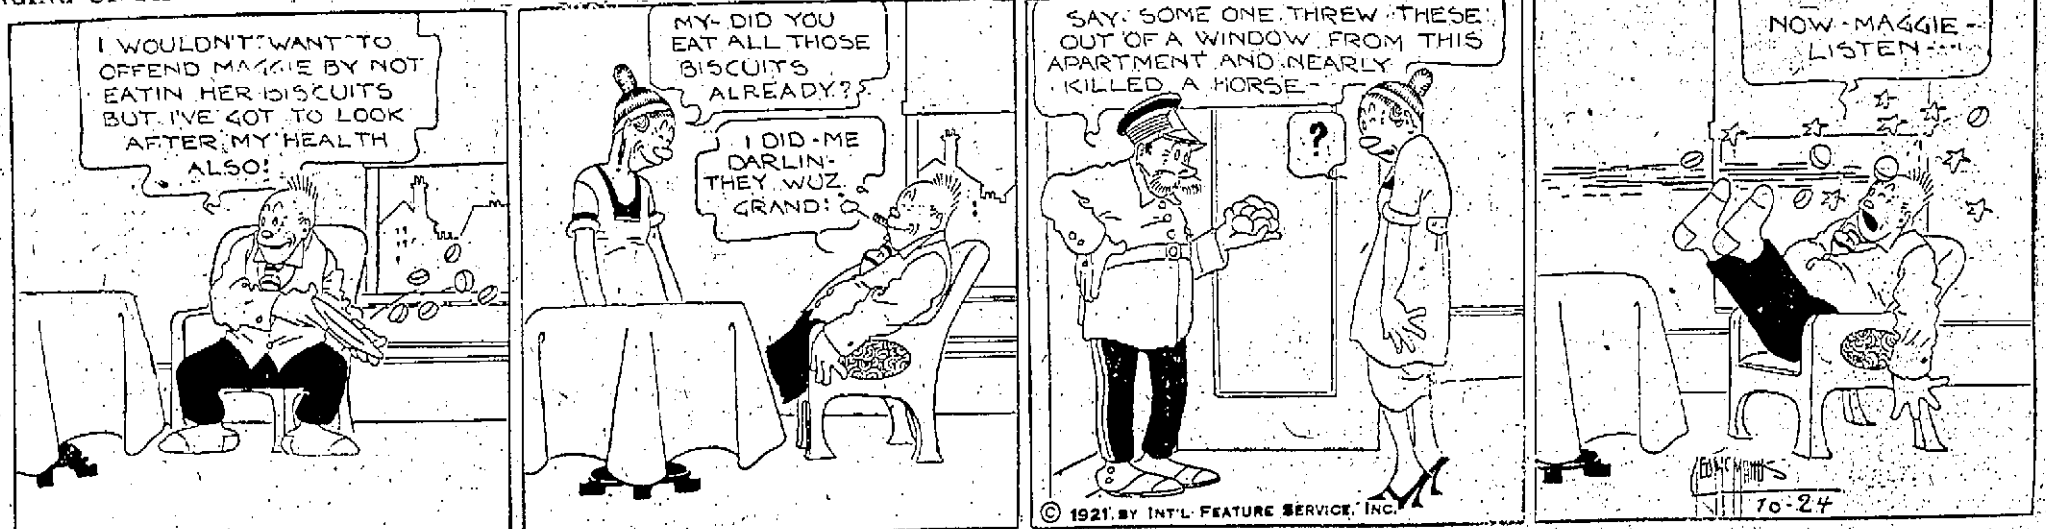

Griddle made a wonderful 40-yard kick and Schultz fell on the ball. Janesville's passes twice were incomplete. Griddle kicked outside to the five-yard line with Jefferson catching the ball. Young was hurt. Jefferson kicked to Knipp, who returned to the 40-yard line. Knipp made three-around end and then in the next play passed to Lane, who dashed 37 yards to the goal and Griddle missed. Score: Janesville, 18; Jefferson, 7.

With Griddle making another fine kickoff, Jefferson returned the ball to the 40-yard line. The Crapser pulled down a pass and made his great 65-yard run. This time Griddle kicked. Score: Janesville, 25; Jefferson, 7.

The same aggressive style of play followed, with Conroy starting in tackling until the game ended with the ball on Jefferson's 25-yard line.

Badger Speedy Backfield Wins from Illini, 19-0

Urbana, Ill.—Wisconsin defeated Illinois, 19 to 0, Saturday by three touchdowns, the first on a blocked punt, the second on a long run by Ed Lott and the third when Illinois fumbled on its own 20-yard line, a Wisconsin man, grabbing the ball and running to the goal.

Illinois showed improved strength from a week ago, but bad passes and fumbles spoiled many a chance to score. At least five bad passes by center Vogel got away for huge losses. The Badgers showed little strength on offense, but speedy backs and alertness in following the ball won for them.

NEW FISH FOUND AFTER ERUPTION

Lava Burrows Deep into Sea; Brings to Light Strange Life.

(By Associated Press.)
Hawaii.—Varieties of fish hitherto unknown were discovered as a result of the eruption of the volcano of Mauna Loa two years ago. This fact has just been announced by Dr. David Starr Jordan, Chancellor Emeritus of Leland Stanford Junior University, California, noted ichthyologist.

The columns of lava burrowed deep into the ocean; their man had been able to penetrate and thousands of fish of strange and fantastic shape and color were killed and washed up on the beach by the tidal wave caused by the lava flow.

Among them were found six varieties hitherto unknown to science because their habitat was presumably lower in the water than science had been able to observe.

Six New Species.
Amateur ichthyologists in Hilo, Hawaii, selected species which were unknown to them and sent them to Dr. Jordan for examination. This time making the six new species were classified.

"I consider the discoveries, from a scientific viewpoint, to be among the most remarkable and important on record," Dr. Jordan said, "when he made public the classifications here, while he was attending the sessions of the Pan-Pacific Educational conference."

The designations given to the six species by Dr. Jordan are:

Lea Ekeles, a species of kikkiki or butterfly fish, strikingly banded in yellow and black.

Vesposus Ekeles, so designated because of its resemblance to a wasp's nest.

Rhyacanthus Carlsmithi, named for Carl A. Carlsmith, of Hilo, who sent many of the species to Dr. Jordan. It is a deep rose red in color.

Rhechias Armiger, a conger eel with hooks on its stout resembling blackberry thorns and is solid dull black in color.

Nymphastrum Reinhardt, named for the Hilo resident who discovered it. It is a small black lantern fish, so designated because of the many luminous glands behind the eye and along its sides, which give the impression of phosphorescence. It is a solid dull black in color.

Peristodion Engyceros or alligator fish of a brilliant scarlet hue, which is characterized by large bony plates of armor.

All Deep Sea Fish.
Each of the six is a deep-water fish. All live in water of more than 100 feet in depth and some as deep as 500 feet. Nothing except such a cataclysm of nature as the Alaka flow could have brought them to the surface, Dr. Jordan said. Rhyacanthus Carlsmithi ranged at least 2,000 feet below the ocean's surface, he added.

Dr. Jordan has sent to the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D. C., a paper detailing the results of the investigation and the new classifications.

New Jap Battleship in Commission Dec. 1
(By Associated Press.)
Tokio.—The superdreadnaught Matsushima, sister ship of the Nagato and the second capital ship to be completed under the eight-eight program, will be placed in commission by the Japanese navy on December 1 and will then be one of the capital ships of the first squadron, together with the Nagato and the Yamashiro. The Matsushima has a displacement of 35,500 tons.

The third capital ship under the eight-eight program, the Kaga, is expected to be launched at the Kawasaki Dockyard in Kobe in December, this year, and to be completed in November, 1922. The work on the Kaga has been delayed for some weeks owing to the recent typhoon strikes in Kobe.

The superdreadnaught will have a displacement of 40,000 tons.
